Letter of recommendation

Dr. A. Sample (fictional) · Thesis supervisor · Sample University

I have known Tania Rahman for three years, first as a student in my computer vision course and then as the author of an MSc thesis I supervised. She is among the best five students I have taught.

Research ability. Tania chose a hard problem, learning from very few labelled medical images, and carried it from idea to result largely on her own. When her model failed on images from a second clinic, she did not hide it. She designed a test to isolate the cause and reported it in her thesis.

Work habits. Her code is clear and tested, her experiments are reproducible, and she meets deadlines. She tutored two juniors patiently.

Recommendation. I recommend her without reservation for a funded PhD place. She will need guidance on writing speed for journals, which she is already working on, and she will repay it with independence and rigour. Please contact me for any further detail.
